IN THE MIDDLE WEST

W. B. KIRK WRITES TO GLENDALE NEWS OF CONDITIONS IN NEBRASKA

Some days ago Mr. W. B. Kirk, the well-known Glendale insurance writer, left for a visit to the Middle West. Before going he kindly promised to send back news of conditions there. Here is his first installment; written from Omaha, Nebraska:

Dear News: As quite a large number of Glendaleans were former Nebraskans or have friends or relatives in this state or adjacent states, I have thought that a few letters, with observations on my travels, for a few weeks, might again be of interest, to some of the readers of the News.

My journey to the Missouri river, by way of the Salt Lake and Union Pacific railways was practically without incident, as it was made on a fast train of twelve loaded cars, without a stopover. Weather conditions although a little hot for comfort in interior California and disagreeably windy in Utah, on the whole were not at all bad.

The first evidences of autumn I noticed in Echo canyon, just after leaving Ogden. Those were the tinting on the bushes and scrub trees, which covered the lower levels of the mountains, and especially thick and beautiful in the lateral depressions which lead up from the Echo river. If you have never observed these don't fail to look out for them next time you pass that way in the fall. Such varieties of shades in leaves I never saw till now. One small canyon looked exactly as though it were covered with a carpet like Joseph's "coat of many colors." This was just a short distance from the "Devil's slide," an object of interest which is pointed out to all travelers.

The rain and clouds for which I had been led to look as soon as I should get east of the Rockies were not in evidence as we came through Nebraska. On the contrary, we encountered one of those warm, windy days, which helps to dry out the corn and eliminate the excess moisture in the stacked grain and makes glad the heart of the farmer.

Everywhere was luxuriant grass. The plains were refreshingly green. Where the grass ceased the crops began. The rains of the summer had been quite heavy and the store of moisture had made every waste place blossom as the rose. The rains too had wakened into life the marvelous germinating power of the crops and all round could be seen evidence of one of the most abundant harvests the Middle West has ever known.

The day after I arrived here was Saturday, the day on which I am writing. The weather man made good on his forecast for when I woke up rain was falling, the first I had seen for many weeks, as you well know. All day and part of the night it continued. If all the corn, this seasonable downpour will aid in developing, should succeed in defying old Jack Frost, the crop will be a marvel.

Judging from appearances and from various interviews I have had thus far the city of Omaha is prospering and growing, notwithstanding the period of depression through which the country is passing. To those who have been familiar with Omaha of old some of the new skyscrapers would be quite a surprise. The Woodmen of the World building, Fourteenth and Farnam, and the City National Bank building, Sixteenth and Harney, each of which is nineteen stories, seem towering buildings even to an Angeleno; while the Fontenelle Hotel at Eighteenth and Douglas, is a beautiful 13-story building, much resembling the Rosslyn, except for the finishing of the top stories.

Several large buildings are also under construction or are about to be started. These include a ten-story office building, which will be the home of the World-Herald, at Fifteenth and Farnam; the First National Bank building and another office building on the opposite corner, at Sixteenth and Farnam, also a fine, large Grain Exchange building at Nineteenth and Harney. This will give old-time residents some idea of what is going on in the metropolis of Nebraska.

Omaha may well be proud of her court house. It is a fine, stately building. Its interior finish of white marble and mosaic reminds one of the San Francisco post office.

"Ak-sar-ben," the annual fall carnival begins its festivities next week. This, together with the fact that Billy Sunday is in the midst of a strenuous campaign here will have a tendency to draw large crowds to Omaha for the next few days and weeks. Of these doings I may write you more

BUSINESS IN WHEELS

R. E. HEINRICH REPORTS CYCLE INDUSTRY SUFFERING LIKE OTHERS FROM DULLNESS

According to R. E. Heinrichs, proprietor of Heinrichs' Cyclery company, 710 W. Broadway, Glendale, depression has been the bane of the cycle business for several years past. There is no doubt in Mr. Heinrichs' mind that the business will improve the moment allied conditions get better. "To a certain extent," said Mr. Heinrichs, "bicycles are luxuries. They are necessities to certain people who use them for travel to and from their work. They are of value for messenger boys and indeed are at times of the utmost value to all; but there are cases where they are luxuries."

"In the old prosperous days people bought a great many more wheels than they do now. Fathers and mothers would give wheels to each of their children or assist them to buy wheels. In these days the average family finds one wheel enough to purchase and support."

"Again the automobile industry cut greatly into the cycle business. People will sacrifice a great deal to own an automobile. The auto is becoming indispensable to the business man if he is to compete with his rivals. Everything is thus sacrificed to the auto which eats up all the financial margin out of which bicycles used to be provided."

"At the same time I did a very fair business in the month of September. I sell, on an average six new wheels a month and about twelve second-hand wheels. The repair business in bicycles and motorcycles occupies a good part of my time. There are always repairs to be made and parts to be supplied and new tires to be put on. Here the bicycle is a more profitable medium than the motorcycle. It is next to impossible to keep all parts of the different motorcycle."

"I keep several different makes of wheels, such as the Dayton, the Pierce-Arrow, the Excelsior. All are in demand. I have had a certain success with the Smith Motor wheel. This is within the reach of people of small means and can be easily attached to or detached from a common bicycle."

"I began business in Pomona nine years ago. The two years I have been in Glendale have been, as all know, in the very heart of the depression. We should be emerging from it ere long and I hope to see a large increase in my business with the increasing prosperity of the country and of the State."

CONDUCTORS AND MOTORMEN

Conductors and motormen who are employed by the Pacific Electric and the Glendale Montrose Railways are very much in evidence at the corner of Brand and Broadway during all hours of the day. At this point the cars meet coming in from the east on Broadway and the north on Brand, and now since the P. E. cars run through to La Crescenta the number of car men seem to have been increased. Many of these conductors and motormen reside in Glendale, and they are all well to do gentlemanly fellows who take a pleasure in treating the traveling public in a courteous manner, and also giving the companies by whom they are employed good service.

MRS WOODS ENTERS REAL ESTATE FIELD

Believing that the time is favorable for a new departure into the old field of real estate, loan and insurance, Mrs. Nanno Woods, 1222 Milford St., is about to leave the uneventful walks of domestic life and battle in the strenuous ways of business. Mrs. Woods is a lady of some experience in business and expects to secure a considerable share of public patronage. Her large acquaintance in Glendale should be of service in this field.

Mrs. Woods has leased from the Central Building company, the building known as the Lawson real estate office, 1111 W. Broadway. The lease was affected through the Jackson Realty company. Mrs. Woods will open her business next week and will be ready for all manner of transactions in real estate, loans and insurance.

later, as I expect to be in the State during a part of the coming month. My permanent forwarding address, while in this State, will be care of Lindell Hotel, Lincoln, Nebraska, where I will be glad to hear from my Glendale friends.

WILL BE DOING THINGS

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HAS REMARKABLY COMPLETE AND WELL-LAID SEASON PLANS

The Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club which has a reputation for "doing things," will certainly live up to that reputation this year, if remarkably complete and well laid plans are any criterion.

The Club re-opens after the summer vacation on Tuesday, October 12, President's Day, which will be in the nature of a reception. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, the capable new President of the Club, will give the President's Address.

Mrs. E. H. Willisford, chairman of Program, has compiled the year book which is complete in every detail. A few of the splendid programs she has in store for the Club this year, aside from the opening day, are: Charter Day, November 9, Madame Norma Rockhold Robbins, and a program presented by the Drama League of America; Reciprocity Day, February 9, in charge of the Literary, Music and Art sections; a Musical Pageant, February 22; Mr. James S. McGroarty, "The Missions of California," March 14. The year's program presents dramatic readers, lecturers and musicians of rare talent, and will be a treat from the opening day to the closing event of the year, the Annual Luncheon. The husbands and children of the members are to receive due recognition—the former on Husbands' Night, November 24, when a dinner and concert will be given in their honor, and the latter on Children's Afternoon, December 28, under the direction of Mrs. Chas. H. Toll.

Besides the regular semi-monthly Club programs, eight study sections will offer valuable opportunities for self improvement. Asked in a few words to tell the aim of this year's work in their respective sections, the curators replied as follows:

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, Curator of the Civics and Political section: "Our section is a new one in the Club this year. We are organized for club study, education for citizenship, and discussion of questions pertaining to public welfare. All phases of questions will be discussed. Our study should be valuable not only to individual life, but to the community life as well."

Mrs. C. E. Harlan, Curator of the Literary section: "We shall study modern authors, for the most part. Our specialty will be immigration. Children's literature, drama, poetry, the Bible, and modern fiction will each have a day."

Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Curator of the Music section: "Folk songs of all nations is to be our key note. We shall continue to study American music and American composers, and have entire charge of the music for the regular club programs."

Mrs. Frederick Baker, Curator of the Home Economics section: "The section will be re-organized under my direction. We shall study along practical lines, and whatever subjects are of special interest to the section members."

Mrs. W. E. Evans, Curator of the Shakespeare section: "We hold our first meeting, Monday, October 4, taking as our study, 'Anthony and Cleopatra.' Mrs. Mazie Pullman Garrett, a life member of the Galpin Shakespeare Club, and instructor for the Los Angeles Cosmos Club, and the Wednesday Morning Club of Alhambra, is to be our instructor as well. At the completion of 'Anthony and Cleopatra,' we shall study the Shakespearean plays chronologically."

Mrs. R. E. Chase, Curator of the Art section: "We shall have numerous exhibitions of the work of local artists, and shall make trips to the Fine Arts building, Exposition Park, to study the works of art which are there, and those to be brought later from the San Francisco exposition. Our class in china painting under the direction of Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw will continue this year."

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Curator of the Legislative section: "The Legislative section will promote an educational campaign along the line of present laws affecting women, together with proposed measures of special interest to women."

Mrs. P. S. McNutt, Curator of the Parliamentary section: "We shall follow in our study, the outlines of the District Chairman, Mrs. I. W. Gleason, together with studies based on the outlines of Roberts' Rules of Order, Revised."

The organization of the Club is as follows: President Mrs. H. E. Bartlett; vice president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell; second vice president, Mrs. E. H. Willisford; recording secretary (Continued on Page 3)

ACCIDENT AT TROPICO

C. C. Graham, who was seated in a laundry wagon along with the driver, Mr. Fennimore, this morning, at 7 o'clock, was thrown out as the wagon turned turtle at the corner of San Fernando road and Oxford street. The street was exceedingly wet and slippery at that particular point and the auto-wagon skidded at the corner and turned completely over. The driver, Fennimore escaped without injury; but Graham was thrown under the wagon and fractured his skull. He was taken to the Methodist hospital and is lying there in a very precarious condition. The wagon belonged to the Welch-Overall Laundry of Los Angeles. Dr. Kellogg of the Glendale Sanitarium, attended the injured man and gave him all the aid in his power.

WHY BE FRIGHTENED?

Does the war in Europe portend a greater conflict and the end of this Dispensation, and that Christ will soon come in person to set up His Kingdom? No, not according to the teachings of the Bible. Is this world growing so wicked as to show that this Dispensation is a failure, and that it will be necessary for Christ to soon come in person to reign? No, not according to the teachings of the Bible. The fact is the whole theory of Pre-Millennialism is a delusion and a snare, and contrary to the teachings of God's Word. If you doubt it, come and hear Dr. Mills on the subject tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the Episcopal church.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIAL

On the initiative of the Ladies' Class and the Men's Class of the Christian church of Glendale a series of monthly receptions for young people has been inaugurated. The first of the series was given Friday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heacock, 507 W. Ninth street. A very enjoyable time was provided for the delighted guests. It is expected to give these receptions once a month throughout the winter.

FARM IMPLEMENTS DISPLAYED

Farm implements and machinery were shown at the Soil Products exposition at Denver, Colo., to the implement and machinery men, special guests of the exposition, today. Everything pertaining to the agricultural development of the soil was shown and demonstrated. Stress was laid on the tractor and the silo. Great interest was exhibited in deep plowing machinery, which has made possible the conservation of moisture in semi-arid localities.

LIKES THE MOVIES

Mrs. Louise K. Thiers, "real" daughter of the American Revolution, celebrated her one hundredth birthday at Milwaukee, Wis., today by going to a moving picture show. Mrs. Thiers is one of the newest and perhaps the oldest movie "fan" in the country and delights to attend the shows.

WAR AND THE ZINC INDUSTRY

Among other American products zinc has come into greater demand since the war broke out. It might not be thought that the war would affect that industry to a very great degree. Indeed smelting capacity and production of spelter have increased faster than consumption in the United States. There are now 130,000 retorts working compared with 93,958 retorts in 1910. At the same time it must be remembered that the actual gain in capacity is much larger than indicated in these figures, which show a production of more than 500,000 tons.

In the earlier years of this industry a number of small antiquated smelters were used and were included in the total capacity. Now everything is modern and efficient. All this benefit to the American industry is the result of the fact that the great smelting centers of Continental Europe are in regions where active fighting is now going on or may be expected in the near future. The zinc smelters of Upper Silesia lie within five miles of the Polish-Prussian border and near the corner of Russia, Austria and Germany. The two smelters in Russian Poland are just across the border from the Silesian smelters.

These smelters have been necessarily interrupted in their output not only because the war wave swept over that spot, but also because the men who worked in them on each side of the border were carried away by conscription. If there is any output there at present which is not likely it could not benefit outside countries as there is no means of transporting it by sea at present.

There are other smelters in Rhenish Prussia and Westphalia, but they, too, are out of operation. Those smelters are within 100 miles of Liege. In Belgium all but three or four of the zinc-smelting plants lie between Verviers and Liege or are strung along the valley of the Meuse. The zinc smelters of France lie outside the area of active hostilities and therefore are suffering only from a lack of labor, as every able-bodied man is now at the front. The same is true of the smelters in England. The only other smelters in the world are in Austria, and Japan and some small establishments in Europe. If the war should continue any length of time those establishments will be sadly crippled. Their output is already reduced by 500,000 tons yearly.

Here is another excellent chance for the United States to profit by the occupation of the European countries in this war. This country has a chance to build up her smelting industries not only in the way of zinc, but of other metals. It seems foolish to have to send tin ore to be smelted in Swansea or tungsten to be smelted in the same place or in Germany. The profits on both metals are large but they look quite small after the foreign profit has been taken from them.

Now, in mining products as in everything else, the United States should be able to get a hold before the war is over that the world will have to look hitherward for supplies of the rarer metals and for their smelting rather than to expect all to be a monopoly of Europe.

WEALTH AT OUR FEET

While a majority of mankind is bemoaning opportunity to acquire a competence there are undoubted opportunities as good as any ever yet taken advantage of all around us. Naturally the difficulty lies in getting even the small amount of capital necessary to get to the places where those opportunities lie and to support oneself while working them out or seeking them.

One of the most desired products at this time is potash. Those who read the interview with Mr. Elliott, the pharmacist of Glendale, in the Glendale News, the other day, noticed how he stated that this country is dependent to a remarkable extent on foreign countries and specially Germany for many of the salts commonly used in chemical productions.

Outside of Germany there is no known commercial source of potash salts. The German supplies being cut off by the war this country must needs look elsewhere for it supply. Why not within its own borders? Here is opportunity for those who are able to go forth into the waste places and prospect for this scarce salt which will soon be worth its weight in gold should the scarcity continue. It is reasonably certain that in the vast saline deposits in the deserts of California and Arizona there are to be found quantities of the valuable potash salts. There is desert enough and space enough there to contain potash for all the world's needs. All that is necessary is the man and the labor to bring it to light.

The United States Geological Survey department is being besieged with letters at present asking where potash can be found. Here is a chance for some man of enterprise to find a deposit and make an enormous fortune. The annual imports of potash salts to the United States amount to 635,000,000 pounds, valued at $11,000,000. These figures, however, do not represent anything like the amount of potash salts used in this country annually, when kainite and manure salts used in fertilizers are counted. Those imports bring up the value to more than $15,000,000.

Before the enterprising lies this open field. It is by no means an easy task to handle the problem of how to wrest the secret of the potash deposits from nature; but it can be done. Men are working on it every day from New York to California, from Michigan to Louisiana. It has been sought in the kelp which the waves of the Pacific wash up on our shores. It has been drilled for in the marshes of the Black Rock desert in Nevada. Natural and artificial brines and bitumens have been collected from all the salt-making establishments in the United States and salts from many localities tested and examined along with them.

Potash has been found in small quantities in some of these sources but to get it in commercial quantities is still a problem to be solved. Deposits of alunite contain potash salts; certain occurrences of igneous rocks are known to contain large quantities of potash salts. Private individuals are working along all these lines and the Geological Survey department is also working. The Bureau of Soils of the Department of Agriculture is also working on the problem. Should some lucky individual find the secret his wealth would be enormous.

Seed Notes

Success in religious matters as well as in worldly is desirable. And in the realm of religion the same laws governing success in material things, prevail here. The only difference being for whom or what purpose is the success desired. That makes all the difference. Surely no one desires to labor in a losing job. To realize at the end of strenuous effort it fails to bring forth every anticipation, keen disappointment.

There are wonderful successes in material things, when observed from the moral and religious side, are colossal failures. So true success after all is not to be measured by what can be gained for oneself, to enhance personal comfort and profit and pleasure. This after all is very nice, but consummation selfishness and foolishness. Likewise in the Endeavor Society, working for its glory and praise is a failure. Its purpose should be not self but Christ and the church. Not for the glory of the society, but that of Christ. It is not organized for its own growth in numbers and influence and power, but for that of the church. Unselfishness must prevail for success.

To be a greater success our Endeavor must see larger things needed doing in the Master's kingdom. Satisfaction with present doings, thwarts and bolts the door against success. We must "forget the past" and "reach forth," "press forward" into the future.

Success can only come by doing. The law of success, in nature as well in morals is the same. God giveth the increase. Success means growth. We either grow or die. We cannot stand still. And the Society either succeeds with us or fails. Our personal increase becomes an influence for the good of the society.

Actually gathering moral and religious fruit will make a society a success. Neither show, leaves nor blossoms will do. We know the fruitless tree is a flat failure, holding valuable ground. And a society without fruit, is a miserable failure. Prayer, earnest, believing, determined; faith trusting, holding on, not discouraged, have realized some most marvelous triumphs when all around spelled failure and defeat.

True consecration, humility, willing to learn from others, devoted leadership, making use of opportunities, and constantly laying emphasis on the Pledge, will go far to make the Society a success.

THE FEMINE IDEA

Mr. Willis—"But why don't you take your bank book in to have it balanced?"

Mrs. Willis—"I don't want that snoopy-looking cashier to know how much money I've got in there."

A teacher in one of the city schools who, to say the least, is of rather generous proportions, was trying to explain to her scholars the correct measurements of the human frame.

"For example," she said, "twice around my thumb, once around my wrist; twice around my wrist, once around my neck; twice around my neck, once around my waist." Then she paused and a shrill voice from the back of the room exclaimed: "Twice around your waist, once around the city hall!"

WHITE RIBBONERS ARE GUESTS OF MRS. ANDERSON

The temperance forces were in evidence Friday afternoon, when a large number of white ribboners and their friends gathered at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, 203 Orange St. to hold their regular session.

Mrs. Nannie Palmer led the devotional service, using the Tenth Psalm as a basis.

A short prayer service followed—as W. C. T. U.'s owe their success to their Heavenly Father—we have no more prominent characteristic than prayer.

An enthusiastic discussion came next, concerning plans for the campaign for "California Dry" next year. Many interesting facts were given of the rapid strides for Prohibition.

South Carolina has been voted dry within the last few days, with a ratio of 3 to 1 in favor of prohibition, making exactly nineteen dry states, ten of which were added during the last year, and there are thirteen suffrage states.

Nearly eighty per cent of the area of the United States is under prohibition law, and we feel the victory for California dry will be with us if we are true soldiers to Old Glory—and the temperance principle. "For God, for home and for every land."

The usual parliamentary lesson was studied. These lessons have a superior interest from every standpoint. Our instructor, Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, has taken national honors as a parliamentarian, in W. C. T. U. work.

"Questions of Privilege," were explained.

A tender memorial service was then held in honor of Mrs. Lucy Blanchard. An eminent and courageous worker for the Temperance cause since 1878. Mrs. Blanchard recently had a heavenly birthday. The members were given the privilege of featuring the most eminent characteristic in the life of Mrs. Blanchard. A short time previous to the home-going of Mrs. Blanchard she was asked to what source she gave the credit for her unusual life of service—her ready response was "I love the Master."

It was a great pleasure to the organization to have Mrs. J. P. Shelton of Chicago, a visitor.

Two new members were added to the ranks. Mrs. L. E. Noyes, who recently comes from Lennox and Mrs. H. Brinkoff of W. Second street.

The hostess assisted by her charming daughter, Miss Gladys Anderson, served refreshments and the afternoon was both pleasing and profitable.

We adjourned to re-assemble October 15, at the home of Mrs. A. Frank, 1464 W. Second St.

FARMERS' EXTENSION COURSES

"Want to spend your spare time studying farming? Do it by lamp-light, in the evenings, in your home!" So read a bulletin sent broadcast through the buckeye state by Ohio State University officials in charge of agricultural extension work, a month ago. More than 500 would-be farmers signed up, straight off, for the free correspondence courses, and they have been writing in at the rate of fifty a day. Instructors in charge estimate that this winter there'll be close to 5000 Ohio farmers who'll give the college yell every time the rural route mailman drives up to the front gate. Many city folk, too, are taking up the work. Twenty-two courses, are offered.

TROPICO

Miss May Cornwell and Miss Gladys Hamilton, instructors at the Acacia avenue school, were most happily surprised, Thursday afternoon, September 30, when no less than thirty five mothers, patrons of the school, assembled at the school building and after inspecting and enjoying the work of the pupils who attend there, decided to organize a society for the welfare of pupils and teachers alike, and which will be known as the Mothers' Club of the Acacia street school, and is in no way connected with the Parent-Teachers association. The officers chosen for this Mothers' Club, are Mrs. R. M. Todd, president; Mrs. Edward Strong, vice president; Mrs. W. C. Wattles, secretary; Miss May Cornwell, treasurer. Meetings will be held the third Friday afternoon of each month, in the Acacia avenue school.

Following the business meeting, light refreshments were served, by Mrs. Herman Melrose, Mrs. Edward Strong, Mrs. George Ballentyne, Mrs. Weihe and Mrs. L. L. Baum, as hostesses.

The Tropico Thursday afternoon club will hold the initial meeting of the year, in G. A. R. hall, Thursday afternoon, October 7. The club bulletin announces Thursday as a "Get Together Day." An all-day meeting under the direction of the Philanthropic committee, 10 o'clock, Philanthropic work; 12:30, noon luncheon; 2:30 p. m. "California Artists and Their Work," with stereopticon, by Miss Alma May Cook, auspices of the California Art club. Hostesses: Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mrs. Wesley Bullis, Mrs. E. V. Bacon, Mrs. S. E. Brown, Mrs. A. H. Gaarder, Mrs. A. J. Frankland and Mrs. Thomas Gaither, Mrs. Charles A. Barker, club president desires a large attendance at the first meeting of the year.

Another large and appreciative audience greeted the Sons of Veterans last night, when they for the second evening presented their minstrel and vaudeville show, in G. A. R. hall. Every number on the program was given in such an interesting and finished manner as to solicit well merited applause. "A very busy day at Schmidt's", the after piece of the show, and which was an original skit by Joseph V. Griffin made a hit. A. J. Van Wie is certainly an artist as a German, while each character was well sustained by all participants. Joseph V. Griffin as a bad Mexican, exhibited excellent histrionic ability.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

The moment your foot touches the accelerator you begin to realize that not even the unusual specifications have given you an adequate idea how good the car really is.

Its instantaneous responsiveness--
The ease with which it gets under way--The abundance of power--The pronounced gliding sensation--The steadiness at high speed--The freedom from gear shifting--Are all qualifications which no list of specifications can reveal.

EXPENSE OF DOING BUSINESS

Conditions have changed in the past thirty years in respect to doing business. The old way of doing business assured the retailer of a neat little margin on goods sold without going to great expense for clerk hire and delivery. The old way was for buyers to select a store to their liking and become regular patrons of that store. Purchases were usually made in quantities, and the dealer was not expected to go to an extra expense to make the delivery, thus it was possible to keep down the expense of store help and the expense of a delivery wagon or auto.

Now things have changed,—people have formed the habit of looking for bargains and many of them adopt no regular place at which to do their buying; purchases, too, are usually made in small quantities, necessitating the keeping of more store help.

There is the additional expense of delivering merchandise which almost doubles the cost of doing business as compared with old way. It is not uncommon, nowadays to see a grocery firm do what would appear to be a thriving business and in the face of all that encouraging appearance, the announcement is made that the business is being done at a loss. What means all this—four or five or maybe a dozen helpers employed, and every one of them busy, and the proprietor who spends ten hours a day hard at work doing business at a loss. A sufficient charge is made for the merchandise sold, but the expense of doing business eats up the profits. Ten and fifteen cent sales delivered a distance of five or six blocks would better never be made. The buying public is demanding too much from dealers.

Orders for groceries might be given less frequently and for larger quantities, and in such a manner that one half the clerk force could handle the same volume of business.

As conditions are at present a telephone order will be given for a 25-cent article in the forenoon and that article is to be delivered in time for the midday lunch, and in the afternoon a phone order will be given by the same person for another article of no greater value, and that too is to be delivered in haste in time for the evening dinner. The dealer would be money ahead if he had never received either one of these orders. Figuring his profit on the two sales at 15 cents it makes it very clear to the shrewd business man that to take two orders at two separate times by phone, count the clerk's time in taking the articles from the shelves and the bookkeeper's time in making out the bills or entering the charge in the books and the time required to make the deliveries, it is clear that make the deliveries, that these sales have been made at a loss.

PREPARE FOR SPRING

According to Mr. Freeman Kelley, of Kelley & McElroy florists, 409 S. Brand boulevard, business is beginning to show signs of revival. "Naturally," said Mr. Kelley, "people will economize in their purchases of flowers before they will economize elsewhere. This fall, however, business keeps up at a wonderful pace when one considers the dullness of the times."

"Everyone is planting out spring flowers at present. I am preparing for spring myself. This keeps us busy along with everything else. In dull times I am inclined to think that most people of moderate means devote their attention, if they are gardening people, more to vegetables than to flowers. The beauties of a flower garden may be dispensed with, though at the cost of much that lends pleasure to life; but the monetary and economic value of a vegetable garden is concrete, palpable and appreciable."

"We have been kept quite busy recently with the creation of floral pieces for funerals. The orders for these pieces come from a wide area. In one day last week we had orders for eleven floral pieces for funerals. Such business, naturally, calls for an extensive variety and stock of flowers. We must also have cut flowers on hand and be ready to supply the varying tastes of our customers."

"I am firmly of the opinion that business is slowly improving and that ere long the revival will be manifest on every side. Glendale is a good conservative place and what business is created here remains and increases."

GREAT SCIENTIST ARRIVES

Dr. Theodore Mortensen, a Danish zoologist with an international reputation, curator of the National museum at Copenhagen, is in Los Angeles for a visit of at least a month, during which time he will conduct scientific research as a guest of the biology department of the University of Southern California. Dr. Mortensen is one of the world's greatest authorities on "echinoderms," which are known to some of us under the more familiar title of sea-urchins and starfish.

The biology department owns a dredging launch, the "Anton Dohn," which is used in connection with the Venice Marine Biological station. During the past several years a tremendous quantity of rare specimens of marine plant and animal life have been dredged up from the depths of the sea. Dr. Mortensen will classify these and study their growth and development.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPEN

The big fellows in the intercollegiate football world will grapple with their smaller brothers on gridirons from coast to coast today.

Today's games are mostly practice spins for the bigger colleges. In the East, Harvard takes on the Massachusetts Aggies, at Cambridge, and Yale stacks up against Virginia at New Haven. Little Rutgers travels to Princeton, and Syracuse and Bucknell meet at Syracuse. Penn State has an expected easy game scheduled with Lebanon Valley, and Pennsylvania meets Franklin and Marshall. Cornell will line up against Oberlin at Ithaca.

In the West, the situation is the same. One of the hottest scraps will be that of Purdue and Wabash, who have been deadly rivals from time immemorial. Minnesota meets North Dakota, Wisconsin meets Lawrence, Indiana plays DePauw, Illinois meets the Haskell Indians, and Notre Dame plays Alma.

MILWAUKEE SANATORIUM OPEN

"Muirdale," Milwaukee county's tuberculosis sanatorium, said to be the finest institution for the treatment of phthisis in the United States, was opened for occupancy today. It cost $600,000 and will accommodate 285 patients. It is named after John Muir, the naturalist.

The English recruit is expected to put every rifle shot into an eight-inch ring at 100 yards. The territorialists must put 80 per cent of all shots into a twelve-inch ring at that distance. The French soldier is required to put half of his shots into an eighteen-inch ring at the same range.

WORLD'S BALL GAME

COMING SERIES PROMISES TO RESOLVE ITSELF INTO A PITCHERS' BATTLE

The coming world's series promises to evolve into a pitchers' battle from the very start. On the one side, Alexander, on the other five of the best pitchers in the American league—Joe Wood, Dutch Leonard, George Foster, Ernie Shore and Babe Ruth.

There isn't much question but that the Great Grover is a better chucker than any of the five, but the trouble is there isn't five of Grover. If there was, there probably wouldn't be any National league left.

Bill Carrigan's prize quintet has won in the neighborhood of 80 games for him this year. Each will wind up the season with a percentage hovering around the .700 mark. The average for the five will total over .700.

Against this crowd of winners Irish Pat Moran has to offer—Alexander. Mayer who has been a hard worker this season—not quite so successful as the Boston flingers, but still good enough to be reckoned with; Demaree, an in-and-outer who pitches world's series ball one day and tall grass variety the next; Rixey, a .500 worker; Chalmers, a veteran undoubtedly of worth, but of doubtful success, and an Indian gent by the name of Tincup who can scarcely be counted on, comprise the balance of the staff.

It is practically a certainty that Moran will pitch Alexander the first game. Who to shoot against him is probably causing Bill Carrigan several sleepless hours. "Smoky Joe" Wood? The smokey one, if he's right, undoubtedly would give the Great Grover a battle from the word go, but Joe hasn't been worked very hard of late. Some said it was because Boston was holding him in readiness for the Big Clash; others contended that it was because Wood was ailing—that it was because he never had fully recovered from the illness that temporarily ended his meteoric career after the 1912 world's series. Probably Carrigan himself is the only one who knows. Certainly, fandang at large doesn't.

Granting that Alexander wins the first game, and thereafter works every other day, Boston's advantage in the pitching department still is great. For it is doubtful whether even Alexander, as great as he is, can work every other day and win his game. Not only would the physical strain be terrific, but the mental strain would be even greater.

In Leonard, Carrigan has one of the best, if not the best left-hander in the game.

The odds are against Grover, and if he wins out against the Carrigan clan, even the lustre of the great Rube Waddell will be shared by the Quaker hurler.

ONLY A BABY SMALL

Only a baby small
Came for our love;
Only a little face,
Two sunny eyes;
Only two cherry lips,
One chubby nose;
Only two little hands
Ten little toes;
Only a golden head,
Curly and soft;
Only a tongue that wags,
Loudly and oft;
Only a little brain,
Empty of thought;
Only a little heart,
Troubled with naught;
Only a tender flower
sent us to rear;
Only a life to love
While we are here;
Only a baby small
Never at rest;
Small, but how dear to us,
God knoweth best.

This darling baby boy, weighing nine pounds, was left at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Shaver, 137 S. Jackson street, Wednesday evening, Sept. 29, 1915.

COST OF STATE ROADS

The cost of a road is dependent upon not only the type of construction but the amount of grading to be done the cost of labor and materials, the width and thickness of the surfacing, the character and amount of drainage required, and other factors of equal variability. Based upon general averages, it has been ascertained by highway specialists of the department that under average conditions macadam roads can be built in the Southern States at from $4,000 to $5,000 per mile, gravel roads at from $1,500 to $2,500 per mile, and sand and clay and topsoil roads at from $800 to $1,500 per mile. In New England and the other Eastern States macadam roads are reported at from $6,000 to $9,000 per mile, gravel roads at from $3,200 to $5,000, and bituminous macadam from $8,000 to $13,000 per mile, according to the character of construction, whether surface-treated, penetration, or mixing method. The bituminous type is quite general in the Eastern States. As indicating costs in other sections of the country, the State highway commissioner of Michigan reported

In 1913 the average cost for macadam roads to be $4,300 per mile, clay-gravel roads $1,500 per mile, and concrete roads about $10,000 per mile. The average cost of State highways constructed in Ohio in 1913 was $8,383. According to types, in 1912 the brick-paved highways averaged $14,650 per mile and the macadam highways $5,950. In California the first 356 miles of the State system of highways cost an average of $8,143 per mile and consisted principally of thin concrete with a thin coat of pitumen. The maximum and minimum figures given are not absolute, but are intended to present the usual range of costs. The rates given include grading, drainage, surfacing, and engineering costs.

BOSTON TUNNEL COMPLETED

The new East Boston tunnel extension will be in full operation the middle of this month, it is believed. Practically all of the work has been completed. The new tunnel connects the older tubes and is expected to facilitate traffic. It cost $2,500,000 and was begun Nov. 29, 1912.
